

GERMAN U-BOAT SUNK BY A U. S. DESTROYER

Crippled by Depth Charges, the Submarine Rose to the Surface and the Work of Destruction Was Completed by Gun Fire.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 24.—The sinking of a German U-boat by a United States destroyer was announced today by Secretary of the Navy Daniels. The periscope of the submarine was sighted by the ship's lookout four hundred yards ahead. The commander of the American ship ordered full speed ahead. Depth charges were dropped and high columns of water were thrown into the air. Then the destroyer opened fire with her guns. The fire was not returned by the U-boat.

The sinking of the U-boat was reported to the navy department by Vice Admiral Sims, in command of the destroyer squadron in foreign waters. Details were meagre and a little confused.

After the first depth charge had been dropped the submarine appeared on the surface of the sea about 500 yards from the destroyer. Apparently the boat was badly disabled. Fire was directed against the craft by two American destroyers—one shelling her from a long distance. Reference is made in Admiral Sims's report to "attempting to tow the U-boat to port." It is assumed this attempt was made by one of the American destroyers. The submarine was so badly damaged by the American fire that she sank shortly after the tow lines had been fastened to her.

What happened to the crew of the submarine was not made clear by Secretary Daniels. The navy department has adopted the British policy of declining to give out any information as to the fate of the crew of captured or destroyed U-boats. The purpose of withholding this news is to create anxiety in the minds of the German people and to encourage the spirit of mutiny among U-boat crews.

Several rebellions among crews of the Kaiser's underwater craft when they were ordered to sea have been reported from German submarine bases on the Belgian coast.

It was believed by naval experts that after the submarine was so badly damaged that further resistance seemed useless the white flag of surrender was hoisted from the conning tower. Probably all members of the submarine's crew were taken prisoners aboard the American destroyers.

CAMP CELEBRATES SAILING ORDERS

And Then Finds Men Are Not to Sail Yet—Waiting Becomes tiresome—Insurance Allotment Explained and Illustrated.

On Leave, An American Port, Nov. 24.—I am off tonight, I guess for the last. We got identification tags today and also shipping tags and numbers for our sailing and baggage. Also first aid packet and were told to get all clothes exchanged for today was the last. All insurance was closed today and this afternoon we were not allowed to leave the barracks.

A few medical men, about 20 came in at 1 a. m. last night from Washington and the (name of boat deleted) is still lurking off the coast in spite of rumors that she left a week ago with 7,000 troops. I heard her blow last night while on guard and they say she was seen yesterday.

I guess we will leave tomorrow or next day, so if you don't hear from me every day you will know I am gone. I will write again tomorrow if here and can get the time. If you don't get a letter mailed tomorrow you will know.

I have been on guard three times in eight days. That is going some. Came off Monday at 10 a. m. and went back again Tuesday at 10 a. m. and got off today at 10 a. m.

Last night at 1:15 a. m. the fire signal, two cannon shots and bugle, was sounded just as our relief got asleep. A fire in the dump spotted our four hours rest. Today another fire in our kitchen caused another alarm.

Will write tomorrow if I am permitted to. Can't telephone any more. This order went into effect today.

Am taking along some quinine and chocolate for the two weeks' trip. Eats will be scarce I suppose and chocolate is great as it takes up little space.

My insurance is O. K. and I have all equipment now and it all fits me.

Will cable arrival to you. The boys are raising Cain tonight and this afternoon in barracks, celebrating the news. There was some cut-up. One fellow's cot was split through. Another complained of lack of air, so someone threw a shoe through the window and now he has too much air.

If permitted will mail letter just before we sail with address to be used. We know we are going to France and not Florida as there was a rumor. Our tags read "A. E. F. (American Expeditionary Force), France."

Hope to Go Soon.

Overseas Casual Camp, An American Seaport.—I don't write much now for there is a feeling of restlessness. We all are on edge. You know how you feel about it in the Freeman office when some big story is expected to break at 3 or 3:15 and you are slumped waiting. Well, that is how we all feel. We know the big thing is going to happen, the biggest thing in our lives, and we feel sort of anxious and, oh well, sort of like a fractious horse waiting to be off. We are all happy and glad we are going. Hope we will go soon, but still we are excited—nervous excitement. Just imagine what it all means—We are just beginning to realize. I know I did not realize what I was saying when I offered to go across back at division

ULSTER CO. BOYS WILL GO TO CO. L

At Present They are in a Depot Brigade, But They Will be With the Others in a Week or Two and Receive a Treat.

Ulster county is trying to take care of its soldiers, whether in the National Guard or the National Army, and is not satisfied with just a big parade and a God-bless-you. The Home Defense Committee is following the men, so far as possible, with its care. It took steps to make the new men in Camp Dix feel at home and realize that the folks of Ulster county had not forgotten them by sending funds for a "feed" for Company L in honor of the new men. The following letter from Captain Card to the Home Defense Committee explains matters in camp and also shows the close co-operation between Captain Card and the Ulster County Home Defense Committee:

Company L, 310th Infantry, Camp Dix, New Jersey.

November 23, 1917.

Check for $50 received. Convey our thanks to all concerned. Drafted men are not assigned direct to their regiment now but are placed in depot brigades until all papers have been completed, after which they are assigned to their permanent companies. Men from your section will be assigned to my company, as heretofore.

Men will be held in depot brigade one week, probably two. Will save check and will use it in giving them welcome upon arrival here.

L. W. CARD, Captain 310th Infantry.

If Ulster county folks who contributed to the Soldiers' Comfort Fund could visit Camp Dix, on an occasion like the one Capt. Card says is coming in a week, and see the joy that a few dollars will give the soldiers, they would be doubly glad that they had contributed. If those who refused to contribute could make the visit it might possibly cause them to regret their failure and broaden their narrow, selfish views.

CAMP DIX BOYS MAKING PROGRESS

Kingsburg, "The Sign Man" Writes of Growth of Wrightstown and Life of Ulster County Men in Camp.

Co. D, 303rd Engineers, Camp Dix, N. J., Nov. 23.—Here are a few lines of what's going on in Camp Dix. I go to Wrightstown quite often. Seven weeks ago there were only a couple of stores there, but now they are building store after store and rent is very high, according to what one of the store keepers told me, and today you cannot buy a piece of ground here. Carpenters work night and day to put them up. Even some of the house owners at Wrightstown are turning their houses into stores. The Wrightstown National Bank has opened and the Camp Dix Theater has opened, with vaudeville and pictures. Prices are 15 and 25 cents and it is always packed to the doors. They are also putting up another new one. The Camp Dix Theater seats 1,800 people. Barber shops are opening here, one after another. Hair cuts are 30 cents and shaves are 15 cents. Shooting galleries are getting their share of the money here. In fact all the stores are.

Seven of our boys have left our company for Washington. D. C. Carpenters are busy at camp right along building barracks. They work every day in the week. Yes, 10 hours a day.

We certainly have a good band in the engineers, and every night at retreat the 303rd Engineers Band plays.

There are a number of boys going home for Thanksgiving. Nearly three-fourths of the boys of Company D live in New York state. Those who are going home have worked Wednesday and Saturday afternoons for it, and all these boys who wanted to go home had to sign their name on the list at the bulletin board and there was such a gang they had it filled in a few minutes. I could not get in the crowd and will probably stay here and eat my Thanksgiving dinner.

There were seven hundred boys from Jersey came here and were over to the Engineers' Hospital to be examined and they were sent to the Engineers Depot Detachment. Quite a number of colored boys also arrived here in camp.

Chidsey is corporal now and he has his hands full. The engineers of different companies are now very busy building a theater for the regimental company. Nearly everybody in the Engineers Corps is a mechanic.

It rained here Thursday and it's mud up to your knees. Our company now takes a hike and don't time, running, after 6 o'clock reveille started this Monday.

Kingsburg, the sign man, is now busy with signs for the regimental companies, and is always on the job. He is well known, even in Wrightstown.

The Y. M. C. A. and Young Men's Hebrew Association are doing great

COMPANY M MEN TO BE TRANSFERRED

Men Want to Go With Lieutenant Dittus in 108th Regiment Rather Than to Another.

The following telegram from Lieut. Rudolph C. Dittus of Company M was received this morning:

Spartanburg, S. C., Nov. 23.—Reported under division order to 108th Infantry. Cashen to 104th Machine Gun Battalion. Ultimate fate not known. Assignment to Company Monday will take many Kingstonians when regiment calls some 100 men needed. All want to go with me before transferred to another regiment. Meagher and Kidder remain.

WAR-TIME SERVICE NEAR THE FRONT

Ulster County Soldier in France Writes Description of Sunday Service in Y. M. C. A. Tent Which Men Left to Enter Trenches.

An Ulster county soldier in France, who has been in the training camps near the fighting line since summer, has written to a friend in this city a description of Sunday in camp.

He says:

"Sunday, September 23, 1917, was a beautiful day. The Y. M. C. A. tent near here held Church of England services. Along the front all the Y. M. C. A. headquarters are in large tents and hold three separate services every Sunday. The services are open to all.

"The floors are of dirt. Ammunition boxes with boards serve as a platform or altar. Two brass cartridges served as holders for bunches of wild poppies. Old boards are used for seats. Without backs the seats appeared at first uncomfortable, but this feeling soon disappeared when we remembered the motive that had brought us there. Every piano along the front has had so many friends that many keys need readjustment, but they perform their duties just the same. Our piano was in that class.

"It is strange how certain surroundings appear to make men realize there really is a God to induce them in their work. The services were plain but solemn. Almost out of place while the reports of guns and bursting shells, the whirr of aeroplanes and the rattle of machine guns and anti-aircraft guns could be heard during the entire services. Every face showed the severe strain of daily scenes, yet you could plainly see the intense longing to be with their loved ones at home. No civilians were present. Twenty odd regiments were represented, big men of many nationalities, the majority in khaki, the balance in kilts.

"Small hymnals were distributed and the men were requested to state what songs they wished to sing. The surroundings were crude, but the spirit and strength of the singing and responses was a great tribute to Christianity and religion. There was no collection after the sermon.

"The pastor had a pleasant word and hearty hand-shake for all. He meets many men each day but seldom meets the same man again. The men left there for the trenches, perhaps never to meet at another service. But such is war."

KNITTED ARTICLES BADLY NEEDED

According to a report from the Bureau of Military Relief of the Atlantic Division, accompanying an appeal from Ethan Allen, manager of the Atlantic Division of the Red Cross, it was shown that in three days there had been received requests for 403,000 knitted articles, the same coming from cantonments, forts and embarkation camps in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

With nearly every requisition for sweaters and other knitted articles comes the added request that the garments be delivered at the camps before Christmas. Just as fast as these articles can be obtained they are being forwarded to Red Cross warehouses at the camps and distributed to the men under army regulations, which require that they be accounted for on inspection days the same as equipment provided by the war department. The output of the volunteer Red Cross knitters no longer keeps pace with the need for knitted garments, and in a statement to the chairman of the Ulster county committee, Mr. Allen, said in part:

"The knitting of articles for our fighting men is very important and very necessary. The Red Cross cannot emphasize the importance of it. In view of the present demand it is advisable that chapters do everything possible to stimulate interest in knitting. Let the women who are knitting for the Red Cross know that if their work were to stop the Red Cross would be hard put to it to prevent widespread suffering and distress this winter."

BRITISH MAKE FURTHER ADVANCES AT CAMBRAI

Gap in Hindenburg Line is Enlarged and High Ground Taken by Storm—Germans Driven Back With Heavy Losses.

London, Nov. 24.—The battle of Cambrai was renewed today and the gap torn in the Hindenburg line by the mighty British smash on Tuesday was enlarged.

At dawn the British assaulted the high ground around Bournon Wood and carried it in a storm attack.

Both to the east and west of the wood dominating ground was won from its German defenders.

Between Moenves and Queant the British attacked on the strategic spur standing there and the Germans were driven from their positions with heavy losses.

Another gain was made in the sector of Bullecourt, the war office added.

The Germans were expecting the attacks and fought gamely but were unable to withstand the matchless courage of the attackers.

Furious fighting took place amidst the ruins of villages and in the underground fortresses which the Germans had constructed beneath the surface of the ground.

Many additional prisoners were captured. Since the battle of Cambrai began Tuesday morning the British have captured more than 100 guns, in addition a number of big pieces.

This new victory achieved by Field Marshal Haig puts the British still nearer to Cambrai, which the Germans have been using as a base for three years. In addition the German defensive works along the western end of the Droocourt-Queant are in the utmost peril. This switch is one of the chief series of supporting works defending the northern end of the Hindenburg Line and the network of strategic railways which supply the bastions of the line.

WHAT ABOUT THANKSGIVING AT THE HOME

Surely the people of Kingston and Ulster county, in spite of their busy interests in all sorts of war work, are not going to forget the children at the Industrial Home this Thanksgiving. But perhaps many have not realized how near Thanksgiving is.

At all events, there is still ample time to remember the Home, and here is just a suggestion as to the remembering. Of course no one could possibly imagine a child's Thanksgiving or Christmas without goodies of all sorts. But this year, even the children must learn a bit of the big lesson of self sacrifice, and do with a bit less of those same goodies, in order that there may be enough of the necessities of life to last through to another season. So if it is just as convenient to the friends of the home, to give some foods that are not perishable, such as canned goods, cereals, etc., the Thanksgiving will be of greater duration, and the waste from perishable food stuffs, that may not all be eaten in time to save them will be greatly lessened. But however, or whatever we give, let us be sure that these children have a real Thanksgiving.

The first Sunday in December of each year has been designated and dedicated as a day on which shall be commemorated by every lodge of Elks in sacred session the memories of departed brothers and shall be known as "Elks' Memorial Day." Kingston Lodge No. 550, B. P. O. E., will hold memorial services at the lodge rooms on Fair street on Sunday afternoon, December 2, at 3 o'clock. An appropriate program will be arranged. The memorial committee consists of C. V. A. Decker and Dr. A. L. Hill.

ELKS TO HOLD A MEMORIAL SERVICE

According to a report from the Bureau of Military Relief of the Atlantic Division, accompanying an appeal from Ethan Allen, manager of the Atlantic Division of the Red Cross, it was shown that in three days there had been received requests for 403,000 knitted articles, the same coming from cantonments, forts and embarkation camps in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

GERMANY BRIBED RUSSIAN LEADERS

Attempt to Make Separate Peace Will be Followed by Anarchy in Russia and Overthrow of Bolsheviks.

Washington, Nov. 24.—Acceptance by Germany of the Bolshevik tender of a separate peace between the Central Powers and Russia will be followed by complete anarchy in Russia. Confidential advisers received here today made this plain.

The Russian situation daily grows worse. The Bolshevik leaders are doing their best to destroy the army, working, it is intimated, under a direct understanding with Germany. The departure of General von Ludendorff, the chief lieutenant of von Hindenburg, for the Russian frontier, "to talk peace" is part of a plan decided on when Lenin, who now heads the Petrograd government, was purchased, according to those dispatches. And, in this connection, it also is stated today that the French government now is about ready to make public the mass of secret information it has secured showing just what Russian leaders now in power were bribed with German gold and the price paid.

ITALIANS HOLD GERMANS AT BAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Rome, Nov. 24.—The flower of the Austro-German armies has been shattered by the Italians.

The battle between the Piave and Etsch valleys in northern Italy is still raging, according to word from that front today, but the Teuton invaders were still held at bay by the Italian defense.

On the Asiago Plateau the Italians voluntarily withdrew from some advanced positions that were without military importance, but the main positions are intact.

Along the lower Piave the Germans are doing their utmost to "gas" the Italians. Waves of poisoned fumes have been released when the wind is from the east and countless thousands of gas and tear shells are being thrown on the Italian trench lines.

You'll Have No Difficulty Choosing Xmas Gifts

Eighmey Bought Useful Stocks of Appropriate Selections for the Soldiers.

By The Freeman's (No Longer) Mysterious Mr. Fox.
There are many helpful Christmas suggestions for our boys in the army and navy at Eighmey's, the big downtown dry goods store.

Early buying this year is essential if you would be sure to reach your boy with his presents on Christmas day.

The Komfort Kit is easily carried in his pockets or knapsack, being small and compact.

In selecting Christmas presents for the soldiers use judgment. Consider what the soldier or sailor does not get from the government, for the government does not permit the men to be hampered with unnecessary luggage, such as extra hats, knapsacks or other parts of the uniform. But there is always underwear and Eighmey has an "all around" line of it; socks, outing flannel pajamas, sweaters, gloves, belts, combs, brushes, military mirrors that will not burden the lad.

At Eighmey's you have the choice of many kinds of cloth which will make up grandly into kit bags and the kit bag is the most useful of all presents. Neatly stitched and embroidered by "mother's," "sister's" or "lover's" hands, what could possibly be more acceptable? Kahki is a good heavy material if it's a large bag. There is denim of a medium weight or galatea still lighter. Shirts the top of the bag on to ribbon or heavy elastic to be easily opened. Attach long ends of ribbon so the bag can be swung on to the person under the uniform.

Put into it needles, thread, shaving, toilet and castle soaps, anything not too heavy; court plaster. Carried always on his person as nothing else can be, even when he strips, the kit bag is always with him. Line it with chambray or a tobacco pouch. Seleste in blue for the navy and kahki for the army is good cloth to use.

The scarf of fine wool is a practical gift. It is not bulky but closely and warmly woven giving protection to neck and chest and to be worn under the uniform.

Step into Eighmey's now. Delays this season more than ever will occur with Christmas packages sent later.—Advertisement.

BIG BUSINESS THAT'S STRONG AS EVER.

"Still in business!" That speaks for the well known insurance and realty man, Albert Mauterstock, with a record of 46 years in buying, selling, producing. Through the strained economic conditions he insures and re-insures with the approach of the season for large casualties, damages from fire, frost and cold weather hazards, his protective and guarantee insurance in fire, marine, glass, burglary, compensation, liability, bond and accident are indispensable to obtain immunity from large losses.

Through his personal business activities thousands of dollars have been paid pursuant to adjustments on losses which his companies always meet promptly and pay up fairly.

The safety of limb and property has been largely increased in this community by the powerful companies he represents with millions of assets.

Mr. Mauterstock has been largely a factor in real estate transactions and in industrial activities. His personal knowledge of property values and the history of large properties in Kingston make him a valuable adviser to anyone contemplating realty or industrial transactions.

Get Your Teeth Ready For Big Holiday Feeds

One Kingston Dentist Gives Sympathetic and Skilled Attention Without Higher Cost.

By The Freeman's (Once Mysterious) Mr. Fox.

The mouth is the most important part of entry for infection. Poor teeth are the hot houses of infectious culture and it is only by submitting them to the skilled dentist that one's health can be protected.

Modern dentistry as practiced by Dr. A. L. Hill, the well known Albany dentist, who in twenty years of successful practice in Kingston has built up a reputation for excellence of work, modest charges and personal responsibility, may extend your life if resorted to where clean methods prevail. One decaying tooth drops poison into the system. It's these small, unnoticed means of infection that are the most dangerous for they are generally permitted to go without attention.

Restoring teeth by the painless methods Dr. Hill employs gives no occasion for any unpleasant anticipation of dental treatments. A sense of positive relief from the harrowing past in which a miserable tooth has so prominently figured, is felt at once when you're seated in the chair.

If a dentist is careless and unsympathetic he inflicts discomfort if not pain. Dr. Hill places himself in sympathy with his patients and you know before he begins you are going to get pleasing attention and entire satisfaction. This accounts for his long and successful practice in your midst.

You know that Dr. Hill gives you advice as to the most useful treatment with as earnest interest in your welfare as he would take in a member of his own family and with no other personal consideration as to his own interests in the matter.

With the skill of long practice and the modern dental appliances he installs to keep pace with the latest contrivances you are sure of as capable and comprehensive work as you would get in New York. And with more personal attention.

At this season of the year, dentistry is more generally appealed to. If you have put off getting those teeth attended to, just turn your thoughts and desires to the approaching time when the Big Eats of Thanksgiving and Christmas will cry out for sound teeth.

No higher cost for dental service at Dr. Hill's, No. 312 Wall street, stands in your way, although this dentist is subjected to heavier costs than ever for gold, silver, vulcanite, aluminum, celluloid, porcelain and rubber, one or more of which he uses in much of his work. But Dr. Hill has not increased the cost of his dental work, so his customers are not asked to share this burden with him.—Advertisement.

"GERM CHASERS" TO KEEP ARMIES WELL

POST-GRADUATE AMBULANCE SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE.

Even germ chasers on wheels have been provided to make life livable for the drafted boys in camp. Sort of sheriff's posses of bug detectives, they are, to pursue the invisible enemy that runs around in soldiers' systems sometimes and unloads double handfuls of disease all over the boys' internal arrangements.

Formally and unashamedly they're referred to by the advisory committee of the Red Cross council as "laboratory railroad cars which are being prepared for emergency work against possible outbreaks of epidemics in continent camps in this country."

Simply Bug Hunters.
As a matter of fact, though, they're bug hunters, pure and simple. Each car will have about five experts aboard to manipulate the apparatus by which every blasted pro-German bacteria will be forced to tell its right name and then walk the plank of materia medica.

Dr. R. M. Pearce, secretary of the medical advisory committee, explaining the plan, said:

"In sudden emergencies such as epidemics of meningitis or diphtheria, either inside a military encampment or in the vicinity, a great deal of highly specialized laboratory work will be necessary for proper control of the epidemic. Although laboratories, these may have neither the equipment nor the staff to meet such emergencies, and to enlarge all of these laboratories would be excessively expensive.

Volunteer Staffs.

"Various large laboratories will furnish volunteer staffs of the most competent men in the country, held in readiness to respond immediately to any call. By this arrangement a fully-equipped laboratory, with an experienced staff prepared to begin work at once, will be immediately available wherever needed."

The United States public health service has such a mobile laboratory unit and Surgeon General Rupert Blue said the Red Cross cars would prove of greatest assistance in the control of civilian sanitary districts. The plan also has been commended by the surgeons general of the United States army and navy.

READY FOR WINTER

Wise Motorist Will Lose No Time in Preparing His Car for Cold Weather.

SOME PRECAUTIONS TO TAKE

May Be Means of Saving Owner of Car Lot of Money and at Same Time Increase Efficiency of Car—Avoid Freezing.

With the advent of fall weather and the prospect of a sharp drop in temperature at almost any time the wise motorist should lose no time in preparing his car for winter driving. A few precautions taken now may be the means of saving the car owner a lot of expense and at the same time increase the efficiency of his machine, writes John G. DeLong in Chicago Tribune.

The time was when the motorist placed his car in dead storage soon after the first frost and left it there until spring. But improvements in the mechanism and the addition of scores of cold weather comforts have made the modern car something that may be safely used the year round. However, there are many things that should be looked after before the machine is ready for the winter campaign.

Motor to Differential.

First of all the car should be given a thorough going over from motor to differential and all necessary adjustments or replacements made. In most cases it is well to drain all of the old oil out of the crank case and replace it with a slightly lighter grade than was used in the summer. The thing of the greatest importance, however, is to take precautions against freezing of the water in the radiator and water jacket, for if Jack Frost once gets in a good stiff punch the car will go down and out for a long and expensive stay in the repair shop, where welding will have to be done, even if it is not found necessary to put on a new cylinder block. And a new cylinder block usually means new pistons and other things that bring joy to the heart of the repair man and corresponding gloom to the heart of the motorist.

Nonfreezing Solution.

The addition of some good nonfreezing solution to the water in the radiator is of the utmost importance and should not be delayed too long. Then, too, the radiator must be protected with a cover which may be purchased at an expense of from $2.50 to $5, depending upon the make and size of the car. This cover not only tends to keep the water from becoming congealed but warms the motor up to its most efficient temperature. If one's car is equipped with a thermometer it is comparatively easy to run the temperature up to 150 or 175 degrees, something that adds to the mileage derived from the gasoline. It is a well-known fact that a warm motor runs much better than a cold one.

Radiator Solutions.

Radiator solutions differ somewhat, but all of them should contain a good percentage of alcohol. The use of salts should be avoided, for while they will not evaporate like alcohol, they have a bad effect on the metal, and also eat the rubber hose connections. Wood, grain, or denatured alcohol may be used, and it may be added to the water alone or combined with a percentage of glycerine, which has a tendency to hold the alcohol and prevent it from evaporating so quickly. Too much glycerine should not be used, however, for it is likely to have a disintegrating effect on the rubber hose.

WHY AUTOMOBILE GETS OLD

Car Which Has Seen 100,000 Miles and Bearings Are in Good Condition Is New Machine.

The life of the bearings of a car determines the usefulness of the entire machine. A car with badly worn bearings is an old car, even though it may have traveled less than 10,000 miles, whereas one which has seen 100,000 miles to use and still has bearings in good condition is, comparatively speaking, a new machine.

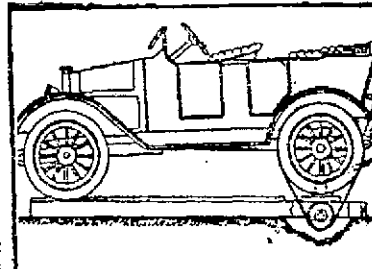

Wear on bearings is determined by four conditions. H. W. Stauson writes in Leslie's. First, the load which the bearing carries; second, the speed at which the bearing surfaces move over each other; third, the nature of these surfaces and their ability to resist wear; fourth, the lubrication which these surfaces receive and its ability to prevent the formation of the destructive heat of friction.

The matter of load becomes a matter of size, for with a given load it is but that with a large surface over which to distribute the pressure, the load on each square inch of bearing surface will be less. This means that the life of bearings will, in general, be in proportion to their size.

OLD TIRES ON REAR WHEELS

Danger of Blowout Is Greatest on Front of Car If Traveling at Twenty-Five Miles.

The popular idea that repaired or questionable tires are used to best advantage on the front wheels is a perilous one. The danger of a blowout when traveling 25 miles an hour or better is greatest if the blowout occurs on the front wheels. A serious accident seldom results from a rear tire blowout. Put your old tires on the rear wheels.

English, You Know.

"An' so you're goin' to teach French at the school, Mr. Canewell?" said the grocer's wife. "Well, it's as well that some folk can teach people, for I often think it must be shockin' difficult for foreigners who come here. For instance, take the word 'air' for example. There's the 'air' on our 'ends, the hair of the hatmosphere, the 'are they 'unts, an' air you quite well? Yes, it must be awful confusin'."

"English as She Is Spoke."

The wife of a workman in the Midlands (England) was describing a quarrel between two other women, and her final comment was as follows: "If 'er'd said to 'er what 'er said to 'er 'er'd 'ave killed 'er or 'er 'er."

WHY Physical Defects Make Children Backward

Neglected supervision of the child by its parents before it enters school is the subject of sharp rebuke and admonition from Dr. Wilmer Krusen, director of the department of public health and charities of Philadelphia.

The general tendency of parents to treat without concern the symptoms of physical disorder displayed in their children, especially so long as the little ones are able to romp about in all the exuberance of youth, is taken seriously to task by the director.

"It is universally agreed that the personnel of a military organization must be physically fit to endure the trials and hardships incident to its particular duties," says Doctor Krusen.

"In a measure the same holds true of the children who are to enter a new environment when registered upon the school rolls, and who are to give up their customary hours of play at home for a seat in the classroom, to be occupied for definite hours every school day. A change of discipline from that of the home to that of the school, together with the labors of study, brings about a complete mental change in the attitude of the child. Are your children prepared for this change or are the older boys and girls ready to take up their advanced studies?"

"The eyes, ears, teeth, nose and throat should receive special attention, as defects of these parts of the body are most frequent.

"Defective vision must be corrected if the child is expected to keep up with its studies and to maintain the same standard as the normal child. Good hearing is also essential to the child who receives oral instruction, as many cases of backwardness are primarily due to defects of hearing. Diseased tonsils and adenoids are responsible for no small number of cases of illness among children, more especially during the school term. By having them removed at an early date we permit the child a better opportunity to combat the diseases of childhood.

"Of no less importance are the teeth. We cannot hope to improve the physical state of the schoolchildren unless their food is properly masticated by sound, healthy teeth. Infections through the mouth often have their beginning in carious teeth."

PORTABLE PHONE FOR WOODS

How Forest Ranger Can "Cut In" Anywhere on Long Lines.

A forest officer of Missoula, Mont., has invented a very ingenious portable telephone, weighing only two and a half pounds and so practical that it has been adopted by the government and is part of the regular equipment of patrol in the national forests this season.

It is said that a cord was equipped with this telephone, a few yards of light emergency wire and a short piece of heavy wire to make the ground connection can "cut in" anywhere along the more than 20,000 miles of forest service telephone lines and get in touch with the headquarters of a supervisor or district ranger. To talk, one end of the emergency wire is thrown over the telephone wire, the two ends are connected to the portable instrument, and the instrument is connected to the ground wire, the end of which must be thrust into the damp earth or in water. Contact with the line wire is made possible by removal of the insulation from a few inches of the emergency wire.

The instrument, writes E. L. G. in St. Nicholas, does not ring the bell of the receiving telephone, but instead causes a screeching sound from a small megaphone-shaped apparatus descriptively known as a "howler." This instrument is installed at the ranger station telephone and is said to give effective notice that someone is on the wire. The transmission is equal to any standard wall telephone, conversations having held with it for a distance of 1,000 miles.

How to Cure Stammering.

Lisping and stammering, according to Popular Science Monthly, are separate imperfections of speech which require entirely different treatment.

Lispers, for instance, can be cured in a short time by tongue and palate gymnastics. They "lisp" simply because they do not work their tongue and palate properly. By making the child speak before a mirror, however, the teacher can correct these mistakes. Stammering is a nervous disorder which cannot be cured so easily. The pupil involuntarily applies too much force at certain parts of the vocal organs, causing the stuttering and a spitting with which we all are familiar. The cure is to relieve the overworked parts by distributing the energy evenly. This is learned by pronouncing certain flowing sounds in front of a candle until the flame does not flicker.

Why White Corn Is Cheapest Food.

Those who have made careful study of the nutritive properties of various grains and foods, agree that white corn is the most satisfactory. It is also the cheapest. Figures quoted by the Literary Digest show that one pound of cornmeal, hominy, or grits is equal in food value to one pound of wheat flour, one pound of rice, one and one-half pounds of cheese, two and three-quarter pounds of round steak, two dozen eggs, one-half peck of potatoes, six pints of milk.

Russian Birkenwasser.

From the sap of the birch tree some of the tribes of northern Russia prepare their ordinary drink, "birkenwasser," from which they also make vinegar, and in some districts they boil it into a sweet syrup which serves them instead of sugar.

Saving the Teeth of Nation's Future Defenders

TOOTH BRUSH DRILL

Many Exemption Boards in Making Up National Army Have Wished School Nurses and Doctors Had Existed 20 Years Ago.

"Good morning! Have you brushed your teeth?"

This salutation is becoming familiar to school children in all parts of the country. In schools where the body is being educated in connection with the mind the child's teeth are considered of first importance.

While the teacher sees that her pupil advances intellectually, the school nurse sees that it develops physically. Her query on entering the classroom is not "Have you studied your lessons?" but "Have you brushed your teeth?"

Medical inspectors have discovered that vast armies of germs inhabit the mouths of school children. They have found that many of the ills which affect the child mentally and retard it in its studies may be traced to defective teeth. Therefore the campaign for clean teeth and teeth that are properly preserved by filling.

"Save the six-year molars and there will be little trouble afterward." This is the slogan of the dentists.

School nurses, therefore, are trying to preserve the molars. In schools where the nurse is in constant attendance the mouth of every child is given frequent examination.

The youngsters pass in review before the nurse with their mouths wide open. If she finds a cavity she makes out a memorandum and later takes the child to a dentist.

Toothbrush drills are part of the curriculum of many of the big city schools. Prizes are offered for those who can vouch for their ownership of toothbrushes and who can prove by the condition of their mouths that they use them. The nurse does everything in her power to persuade the children to spend a few of their pennies on tooth powder.

In one of the big New York schools nurses have combined with dentists to fight pyorrhea, the disease which causes receding gums. In this school intensive work was done recently by oral hygienists of Columbia university, who gave every child's mouth a thorough examination and left it in a hygienic condition.

WAR'S BURDEN

"DOING HIS BIT."

One result of the war is that the children in Europe whose fathers have gone to the front are now compelled, as soon as they are able to toddle, to do their "bit." The work, of course, is nearly always pleasant and never arduous and the youngsters quickly enter into the spirit of it.

In the above picture is shown a little shepherd boy. He is a Montenegrin. He is bringing back some sheep which wandered away from the flock and would have had no trouble at all but for the small black sheep which you will notice in the photograph. Like the proverbial black sheep, he sought new fields.

CAMP CELEBRATES
SAILING ORDERS

for, then $18 a month to save for me.

Misty Day Amusements.

Well, today is a typical coast town rainy day. It doesn't rain, it just drizzles, a sort of Scotch mist, and it has been a dreary one outside.

Inside we have had nothing to do but amuse ourselves and we have made a brave attempt to do this. You never saw a bigger bunch of kids.

On account of a violation of rules on the part of a few men no one received a pass tonight. They kept throwing papers on the floor and in the coal box and three barracks had their passes taken away. They will probably be more careful hereafter.

Ship Impress Western Men.

We have some men here from the west who never saw a big ocean ship before and every liner is a sight to them. Today a real battleship went by, a superdreadnaught, and the fellows now are sure this one ship could lick the whole German navy.

She did look big as she went by close in shore. So—saw the big ship and preached a sermon on it. I'll bet that was good. Last night I heard positively that she sailed a week ago Wednesday with 7,000 men aboard. Alex then said he saw her Saturday, three days after she "positively left," and there was an argument of course until Alex verified his statement by me. So you see you can't believe anything you hear and not all you think you see.

I would like to have been in town to see the boys leave for Camp Dix but I guess it will be some time before I see Kingston again. I hear from Kelly and the bunch in the engineers once in a while and they report everything all right down there in Camp Dix.

A Sunday Dinner.

Just to show you how well we are treated here I will tell you what we had Sunday for dinner. Chicken, sweet potatoes, celery, soup, radishes, bread, coffee and ice cream.

Tonight we had red berries, roast pork, baked potatoes, bread, brown gravy, tea, vegetable soup. So you see we live pretty good.

The Rumors.

Looking through my diary I see a great deal of space is taken up recording the various latrine rumors. Here all sorts of rumors start. One says we sail tomorrow, another says Sunday. Others say we go to Florida and still another we go to Siberia and Italy. The joke of the day here is rumors. Whenever a man comes in after being away for a short time his greeting is, "What is the latest latrine rumor?" And then he records what he has heard while he was away.

Disappointed Again.

Same Place. Next Day—Another whiff in the wheel, and we were over yet. Somebody higher up overlooked us and now they tell us we're anchored for several days or weeks. There are rumors that we are to have passes for 43 hours Thanksgiving week, half of us let out Wednesday on passes and the other half when the first lot returns. They might as well let us all go. We are no good we are doing here. Not even getting any training, just waiting, and it makes us impatient to think that if we were on our way we might get sooner where we would be of some use.

But the Hatchet is Buried.

Today we had a big get-together meeting in the kitchen. Eats, O'Joy! You see we are quartered in a big barracks building, the Yaphank boys and Dix. Ever since we have been here there has been a feeling between the two camps. It never should have been, but it was. There was always some little scrap going on between us. Well, yesterday it was rainy and we all stayed in the barracks all day. It was muddy and of course things got dirty. Some one told the lieutenant and he tore up our passes last night. The Camp Dix crowd said the Upton fellows made the place dirty from running through after we swept and Camp Upton men said it was because the guard, who was from Dix, did not make them clean up. Anyway we got no passes. Well, last night it came pretty close to a free for all. So our crowd and the Upton crowd decided it was time to get together. Sergeant O' the Upton crowd is a fine fellow, and like arranged the feed. Beside eats we had a little entertainment by the "Yellows" and a general good time. I guess now instead of being Camp Dix and Camp Upton we will be the Q. M. Clerks, one and all.

No Shaves Thanksgiving Day.

All barbershops in Kingston will be closed all day Thanksgiving Day.

Growing Disfranchise.

It has been discovered that the thick, spongy gourd of the luffa plant, which grows easily and requires but little attention, makes the best kind of dishcloth and bath sponges. An Ohio woman is making a good living raising luffa plants and selling them to a washing of automobiles. Cut into strips the luffa gourd makes a kind of lace widely used by milliners, and it is also admirably adapted to the making of flower baskets.

Remembered by Fellow Employees.

Thursday at noon Edwin J. Spalt of this city and William Clark of Port Ewen both employed in the Cornell shops were presented with paring gifts before they left for Camp Dix by their fellow employees.

Mr. Spalt was presented with a wrist watch and Mr. Clark with a shaving set. They were also presented with cigars and cigarettes.

The presentation was made by Robert W. Flemming in behalf of the employees and Mr. Spalt responded.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Nov. 24.—Trading at the opening of the stock market today was irregular. Steel issues declined sharply in the early trading, while advances were recorded in many other issues. U. S. Steel sold off 1/2 to 3/4, while Bethlehem Steel declined to 82 1/2. Crucible was off 1/2 to 5/8, and Baldwin sold off 1/2 to 5/8. General Electric advanced 3 points to 135. Tobacco Products advanced 1 1/2 to 60, while United Cigar Stores rose 1/4 to 39 1/4. Marine Preferred declined one point to 95 1/2, while Atlantic Gulf rose 1/2 to 99 1/2. The railroad stocks were fractionally lower.

The market closed irregular today. General Electric was the weak feature in the final trading, breaking five points to 129 1/2, following the news of the stock dividend and the special meeting to increase the capital stock by $20,000,000. U. S. Steel sold down to 96 1/2 and Bethlehem Steel B to 81 1/2.

Scheme to Capture German.

And this was received by the commander of the Department of the East, a New York correspondent of the Pittsburgh Dispatch writes: "I am enthusiastic over a scheme that has entered my fertile brain to easily capture thousands of German soldiers without firing a round of ammunition. If the war department does not see fit to use this wonderful suggestion, then the responsibility for the continuance of the war must rest on the shoulders of those who have rejected it. The scheme is a simple one and is easily put into execution. Under cover of darkness have the soldiers strew the ground between opposing trenches with fly paper. When the Germans come over the top to attack they will, of course, get stuck and will be easily captured. Can anything more practical or simple be imagined?"

Zoo Monkeys' Diet.

The monkeys in American zoological parks are still having bananas for breakfast, in spite of the war and the high cost of living, but the animals of the London zoo are not so fortunate. The shortage of food in Britain has resulted in many of the less rare animals being killed off or not replaced in case of death. The afore-mentioned bananas have long been dropped from the zoo menu, and potatoes can be remembered only by the older inhabitants of before the war days. Horse flesh is the only form of meat not too high nor scarce for the animals. Hay, wheat and oats are needed urgently for other purposes; so that grass from the parks, corn, rice and other less valuable grains are substituted.

Died on "Field of Honor."

Alexander Hamilton, statesman of the Revolutionary period, and his son Philip were both killed in duels. The former by Aaron Burr and the latter by one George L. Eacker. The son was killed first. He and Eacker were both young lawyers of New York city. They got into a quarrel at a theater one night and Hamilton challenged Eacker on the spot. In the duel which followed, November 23, 1801, Hamilton was mortally wounded and died the next day. July 11, 1804, the father and Aaron Burr fought on the same spot, at Weehawken, N. J., and Hamilton was killed at the first fire.

TO TAKE CENSUS OF ALL NURSES

Miss Mary E. Ryan, of Kingston City Hospital, is Appointed Chairman for Ulster and Greene Counties. Should Register With Her.

Miss Mary E. Ryan, R. N., superintendent of the Kingston City Hospital, has been appointed chairman to make a survey of the nursing service in Ulster and Greene counties. At the request of the Medical Board of the Council of National Defense, the New York State Nurses' Association has authorized this work, which applies not only to graduate nurses, but to all nurses or trained attendants engaged in any kind of nursing, and they are requested to send their names and addresses to Miss Ryan at the Kingston City Hospital. It is hoped that every one engaged in the field of nursing will send in their names as promptly as possible so that the survey may be made as quickly as possible.

Salt Shortage Temporary.

Owing to the extraordinary conditions brought about by the spread of the salt famine the Worcester Salt Company of New York now has more orders on their books than they can ship in the next two months. While the supply of salt is inexhaustible, and the company is shipping more than ever it is very easy to create an artificial famine in any commodity if the public starts out to lay in a year's supply at once. A great many merchants are entirely out of salt, and it is going to be difficult for the manufacturers to ship them salt rapidly enough to meet the present demands. However it will be shipped to those cities that are entirely out of salt. In the main, however, the situation will have to adjust itself, for it is almost impossible for the salt manufacturers to ship two or three thousand carloads today and that is just about the amount needed to replenish the stocks that have been suddenly exhausted by a foolish panic.

Mr. Silver Not to Blame.

In the advertisement of Charles Silver which appeared in last evening's Freeman, it stated that Bridal Veil Flour was $1.50 a sack. It should have read $1.55 a sack. Typographical errors happen in every newspaper office and The Freeman takes this opportunity of letting the public know why they are asked to pay a few cents more for the flour when they go to Mr. Silver's store to buy it, when it was quoted at a lower price in his advertisement.

Kingston's First Snow.

When Kingston's residents early this morning rolled out of bed and glanced out of the bedroom windows to see what brand of weather the weather man was handing out, they found the air full of snow flakes. The snow, however, melted about as fast as it struck the earth. This was the first snow of the season in Kingston although snow has been reported in other parts of the county.
